The investment opportunity in Frontier Market equities

- Economic development and corporate profits in frontier markets today parallel those of in emerging markets twenty years ago
- Frontier markets present a unique opportunity to invest in domestic companies benefitting from local economic development trends that can support corporate profit growth
 - Favorable demographics supporting increasing consumption
 - Increased productivity from industrialization and infrastructure development
- Strategic equity allocation to frontier markets could add diversification within a portfolio, given its low correlation to emerging markets and developed markets
- Low intra-country correlation due to the more locally-driven economies in frontier markets has typically resulted in lower volatility than in emerging markets
- On a medium-term basis, frontier market equities offer attractive return potential and dividend yield
- Favorable valuation relative to profitability in frontier markets compared to both emerging markets and developed markets

HSBC Frontier Markets¹

- HSBC is a pioneer in frontier markets investing. Our strategy, launched in February 2008, has a proven 9+ year track record
- A global investment approach that invests across frontier markets and smaller emerging markets with 'frontier' features
- The added value of proprietary, on-the-ground fundamental research informing investment decisions

Investment philosophy

We believe:

- Frontier markets are highly inefficient
- Cash flows drive long-term stock returns
- Proprietary fundamental research is essential for success
- Understanding local markets and access to local information is imperative

Risk considerations: There is no assurance that a portfolio will achieve its investment objective or will work under all market conditions. The value of investments may go down as well as up and you may not get back the amount originally invested. Portfolios may be subject to certain additional risks, which should be considered carefully along with their investment objectives and fees. Equity investments fluctuate in value based on changes to an individual company's financial condition and overall market conditions. Foreign and emerging markets. Investments in foreign markets involve risks such as currency rate fluctuations, potential differences in accounting and taxation policies, as well as possible political, economic, and market risks. These risks are heightened for investments in emerging markets which are also subject to greater illiquidity and volatility than developed foreign markets. Frontier markets generally have smaller economies or less developed capital markets than traditional emerging markets, and therefore investing in frontier markets can magnify the risks of investing in emerging markets. Derivative instruments. Derivatives can be illiquid, may disproportionately increase losses and may have a potentially large negative impact on performance. Non-diversification occurs when portfolio assets are invested in fewer securities, industries, currencies or countries than in diversified investment portfolios, Non-diversification increases risk because each investment has a greater effect on portfolio performance and can also be affected by single economic, political or regulatory occurrences. Commodity-related investments. Exposure to commodities markets, including investments in companies in commodity-related industries, may subject a fund to greater volatility than investments in traditional securities. The value of commodity-related investments may be affected by overall market movements and factors specific to a particular industry or commodity.

¹ For each fund with at least a three-year history, Morningstar calculates a Morningstar Rating™ based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a fund's monthly performance (including the effects of sales charges, loads, and redemption fees), placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The top 10% of funds in each category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. (Each share class is counted as a fraction of one fund within this scale and rated separately, which may cause slight variations in the distribution percentages.) The Overall Morningstar Rating™ for a fund is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five- and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics. HSBC Frontier Markets Fund was rated against the following numbers of U.S.-domiciled Diversified Emerging Markets over the following time periods: 626 funds in the last three years and 431 funds in the last five years. With respect to these Diversified Emerging Markets funds, HSBC Frontiers Markets Fund received a Morningstar Rating of five stars for the three- and five-year period. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Morningstar Rating is for the Fund's Class I only; other classes may have different performance characteristics.
